Your Instructional Technology Team!

Instructional technology is about engagement and developing skills that can grow with students. By emphasizing the Technology Applications TEKS, members of the Instructional Technology Team work with teachers to encourage creativity, collaboration, critical thinking, and other valuable skills developed within the context of content area instruction. The Instructional Technology Team offers workshops and other trainings, but we are most keenly aware of the impact created by working with teachers and students in classrooms. The Instructional Technology Team remains committed to supporting teachers in the implementation of the Technology Applications TEKS and CISD best practices through just-in-time staff development. With the addition of two instructional technology coaches, we are able to provide dedicated points of contact for all campuses and departments in the district. Those contacts and other information to support instructional uses of technology can be found on the Instructional Technology web site as featured below.

We look forward to working with you,
